CROWDER ADVISING PRESIDENT ZAYAS

Reforming Government On American Lines to Avoid Intervention.

HAVANA, June 10 .- The government of Cuba, tonight, is virtually in the control of the United States. Intervention, while still unofficial and indirect, is as potent and effective as if internal Cuban affairs were being personally directed from Washington.

The entire cabinet resigned to-Other important and fundamental changes in the processes of the Cuban government are rumored.

Havana tonight sees in the dramatic changes that have taken place today President Zayas' determination to reorganize his govern-ment along the lines declared necessary by Maj. Gen. Crowder, observer for the American government, and thus stop actual intervention by the American government.

Works With Crowder.

Dr. Zayas, who has long been a leader in progressive thought in Cuba at present who can by deter-mined action bring about the changes which Maj. Gen. Crowder has outlined as essential if the Cu-ban republic is to be saved from bankruptcy. President Zayas and Crowder, it is said, are working to-gether in perfect harmony.

Havana, tonight, is in a turmoil of excitement. The late evening editions of the local papers, carry-ing big red head lines, are announcing the fall of the island repub-lic's leading statesmen and re-porting the changes that are still expected to come. In the crowded cafes along the Prado and in the Central Park, crowds are congre-gating and rumors even wilder than reported in the late extras are being passed from group to group.

Notes Submitted.

Although no official statement has Although no official statement has been issued from the national nai-ace or by Maj. Gen. Crowder, information coming from men closely associated with the events that have been occurring during the past few days at the national palace indicates that Gen. Crowder has submitted twelve notes to President Zayas during the past few days bearing upon the financial and poberations. bearing upon the financial and po litical condition of the republic and pointing out certain specific changes that must be made in order to pre-vent official American intervention. Eight of these notes, it is said, referred, directly to the composition of the cabinet. The other four bore on the necessity of enacting the budget law immediately and passing other remedial legislation.

Veterans Demand Truth.

The silence of the officials of the uban government and of Maj. Gen. Crowder has undoubtedly aggravated the situation in Havana. The day's action virtually marked the end of efforts to get the carpenters and Joiners back into the fold of the building trades department. Coming as it did on the very eye of the American Federation of Labor convention which opens Monday, this action by the building trades was disturbing to leaders, who have been stressing the need for harmony with utmost vigor.

or. Gompers wanted the building trades to agree to a reopening by the jurisdictional board—composed of three union representatives and six employers—of the dispute hetween the carpenters and the metal workers. He said if the jurisdic-tional board would not agree to that the department should "cut loose from the whole dirty con-cern."

FALL PLAN MAY TO RESIGN POST

Forest Service Transfer Likely to Cause Cabinet Break.

FARMERS PROTEST PROPOSED CHANGE

Over 200 Unsolicited Le ters Against Transfer Shown Harding.

The first breach in President Harding's Cabinet will be caused by the forced resignation of Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, unless plans for reorganization of the government departments are altered, according to friends close to the head of the Agriculture Department.

The move that would force Secretary Wallace to resign is the reported indorsement by the President of Secretary of Interior Fail's plan to transfer the United States Forest Service from the Agriculture to the Interior Department. It is believed the reorganization bill will be submitted by President Harding to Congress about the first of July and will have his approval of the transfer.

In view of the strained relations between the two department heads over the proposed change, and or the definite stand taken by Secretary Wallace against such a move, it is pointed out that the indorsement by the President of the forest transfer would be equivalent to asking the Secretary of Agriculture for his resignation. And there is little doubt in the minds of his friends that Secretary Wallace would resign. It is known that he has been urged to do so if the President sides with his former Senate colscores of farm organizations and
